JIMI HENDRIX EXPERIENCE / BAND OF GYPSYS

Cox and Jimi Hendrix planned to re-record "Remember," but Jimi's untimely passing prevented its completion. The song remained unrecorded in the United States until Billy felt someone had the quality and musical understanding to perform it with him — and he chose Greg Sover.

GREG SOVER | BILLY COX

A MODERN ROOTS-ROCK ARTIST

Some guitarists play in the shadow of Jimi Hendrix. Greg Sover was given the rare opportunity to help finish a piece of his legacy.

The Brooklyn-born, Philadelphia-raised guitarist, vocalist, and songwriter has released four recordings and performed alongside artists including Walter Trout, Sonny Landreth, Popa Chubby, Marcus King Band, Jimmy Vivino, Jeffrey Gaines, Tommy Conwell & the Young Rumbler, and the Yardbirds. His latest album, HIS-STORY, features legendary Hendrix Experience and Band of Gypsies bassist Billy Cox, including a rare recording of the Hendrix composition "Remember"—further cementing Sover's place in the continuing story of one of rock's greatest guitar legends. Now, Sover is entering his next chapter.

He is currently recording his fifth album, which will launch with the powerhouse single "Money," as well as a series of cinematic music videos to provide fans with a full immersive experience.

Guitar-driven music. Soul, grit, and a story all his own. That is Greg Sover.
